Bi-State Proposes Bus Fare Increase

Drop in Bus Patronage Cuts Revenue; Study New Rate Schedule

Because of a sharp drop in bus patronage, a fare increase from 40 to 45 cents by Sept. 1 was proposed tentatively yesterday by the board of commissioners of the Bi-State Development Agency which operates the Bi-State Transit System.

Board members said a final decision to seek a fare increase will not be reached until August. If it is decided to effect the increase, a petition will be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The proposed increase would raise adult fares from 40 to 45 cents and express fares from 45 to 50 cents. Transfers would be raised from five to 10 cents.

Student fares in the Illinois area of the system will be subsidized by the state, while in Missouri, however, there is no subsidy, the weekly $3 pass would be replaced with a 10-ride ticket costing $3.50. Charter rates, except for school groups, would be increased about 10%, officials said.

Zone Fare Increases

The inner-city zone fare would go from 30 to 35 cents, gold weekly passes from $9 to $7 and silver passes from $5 to $5.75. Special discount would be added from $2.50 to $3.

Robert S. Knapp, chairman of the Bi-State agency, said ridership on Bi-State buses dropped about 10% during June, and that without subsidies from Illinois and Missouri the only way the loss may be met is through the fare box.

He pointed out that without the fare increase net operating revenue for the year would drop to about $1 million, but that debt requirements would total $3.1 million, leaving a $2.1 million deficit.

Rapid Transit Action

The Bi-State board also took action yesterday that apparently ends a long-standing controversy over rapid transit planning. The commission voted to abandon plans for design of two initial routes and an eventual 62-mile system, and to develop a complete system instead.

A recommendation of federal officials to set up an advisory committee from the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council and the Chamber of Commerce was accepted.

The two officials last spring accused Bi-State of being "unresponsive" to area government officials and initiated a move to transfer the agency to state control.

Shortage of Gas May Boost Costs For New Schools

Shortage of natural gas supplies may cause problems in the construction and cost of two new school buildings, the Granite City Board of Education was told at a meeting Monday night.

Illinois Power Co. has informed the school administration that it cannot guarantee gas service for the new facilities. IPC has filed a request with the Illinois Commerce Commission for permission to place new gas service on a priority basis.

Engineers have planned the new buildings for a combination of gas and electricity. Designs and specifications were completed a month ago on the elementary school at the Schaefer site on Old Alton road. Plans are under way for the building at the Wein location in Mitchell.

During the meeting it was noted by Monroe Worthen, a board member, that IPC had made written commitments to supply natural gas and called for an investigation. Other board members expressed an unwillingness to accept a gas shortage as a possibility. A special meeting of the board may be called.

Three Alternatives

Three heating alternatives for the school at the Schaefer location were presented by Roy Aach of Roy Aach & Associates, engineers on the project.
An L. P. (propane) gas utilizing an air blower system would have an initial cost of $26,000 more than natural gas. An L. P. gas straight feed system would cost $13,000 more, and an all electric system would cost $10,000 more.

Estimated operating cost for a nine-month school year would be $13,200 for the blower system. (Continued on page 5, col. 6)

City Hall Janitor Makes More

City Attorney Resigns in Pay Dispute

Pointing out the city hall janitor and assistant are being paid $4000-a-year more than the city legal department, City Attorney Leon Scroggins submitted his resignation to the Granite City council Monday night. It was accepted.

The resignation was promised earlier this month before the council adopted its 1970-71 budget setting the attorney's salary at $6000-a-year, a cut from $12,500.

In his letter of resignation, Scroggins stated: "It is most difficult to refrain from issuing a Nixon-type statement to the effect that you will no longer have me to pick on. However, I will state that it has been my pleasure to serve as city attorney. When the city officials will deem my service to have been honorable and beneficial to the original trust placed in me."

"Again I regret that circumstances necessitate my vacating this position. When the city reaches the point that a janitor and assistant are paid $4000 more than the entire legal budget, then I do not deem the

Council Overrides Budget Veto

$3,198,019 Unchanged For '70-'71 Fiscal Year Mayor Urges Economy

Mayor Partney's veto of the entire $3,198,019 city budget was promptly overridden by an 11-2 vote of the Granite City council Monday night.

In his two-page veto message, the mayor urged the budget be cut to a figure "as close to our income as possible." It has been estimated the budget is $400,000 in excess of tax and other revenues for the 1970-71 fiscal year that began May 1.

No effort was made to trim any portion of the new budget, which is $352,124 under last year's, but $267,663 higher than the mayor's proposed total of $2,900,257. The difference is made up mostly on sewer repairs which totaled $800,000 in last year's budget compared to $1,385,540 this year.

The mayor said he had proposed to veto only individual items, but that with the council's trim-back of the city attorney's salary from $12,500 to $6000, the difference should be reconsidered. "You have to realize you can't change the city attorney's salary for an entire year," he explained.

Throughout his veto message, the mayor stressed economy and the anticipated costs of repairing sewer breaks already in existence.

Mayor Is Criticized

In the 20-minute debate following the veto, Alderman Moerlein criticized the mayor for lack of cooperation in working with the Finance committee on the budget.

"I've served under four mayors on the Finance committee three times," Moerlein stated, "and this year there has been less cooperation from the mayor than I've ever seen before."

He pointed out the departmental budget submitted by the mayor and the council should have been the same, but were different.

6-Man Drug Squad Urged As New County Agency

A plan to establish a six-member Madison county drug squad, headed by a vice mayor and deputy or investigative division, will be proposed to the county board of supervisors in its regular session Monday.

Recommendations for the proposed squad which would be established under a five-year plan grant costing a total of $484,650 have been endorsed by the county board's finance committee.

The county operates with a drug squad made up of 40 volunteer officers from various police departments throughout the county.

The proposed squad would operate separately from any deputy or investigative division of the sheriff's department and is expected to be under direct supervision of the county board.

Makeup of the squad would include a squad chief who would be employed with help from the International Association of Chiefs of Police at a starting salary of $12,000 per year. This would increase to $14,000 annually over the five-year period of the program.

The stipulation, signed by Chief Circuit Judge William B. Cline, the aldermen involved agreed to pay the amounts of judgments ordered by the court in the case of Mrs. Marge Hall and Mrs. Cleo Buttry, and Mayor Partney agreed that the women dispatchers at the police desk are to be replaced by members of the police department on Saturday, Aug. 1.

Women Reassigned

To comply with the order, the mayor announced reassignments for the two women dispatchers starting Aug. 1. Mrs. Hall, who has been named to the police desk job each 30 days by Mayor Partney, was reassigned for one day—Friday, July 31—since her current 30-day appointment expires today. On Aug. 1, Mrs. Hall will be the clerk for the inspection department at the Police Air Pollution Control Board.

Mrs. LaVesta Russell, who was named a police dispatcher upon the resignation of Mrs. Buttry last month, will be reassigned Saturday as a secretary in the police department detective bureau. Both women

No Electrical Power Problems Foreseen

Wednesday's record-breaking 94-degree temperature forecast caused no operating difficulties for Illinois Power Co., according to Fred Cunningham, manager of the utility firm's Granite City office.

"I don't believe we have yet reached a new peak over last year's," Cunningham said today, noting, however, that statistics from telemetering stations which disclose the number of kilowatt units sent in a given period have not been received for yesterday.

Reassurance was offered Illinois Power users by the I.P.C. official who said, the addition of a new plant at Braidwood, Ill., has helped the power supply situation in this area.

The car was going 5 to 10 miles per hour, but the boy was knocked to the pavement, police said.

Explosion at House Caused by Gas Range

An explosion which blasted the walls out of the frame of a house, Saturday night, was caused by a gas fire from a kitchen range, the fire department determined this week.

Mrs. Gray had left the gas taps turned on, according to the report, returned later to the kitchen to find the flames there shut off and then attempted to light a cigarette when the explosion occurred. The windows and doors were closed.

Authorities at first were puzzled by the source of the gas as they found the stove jets in an off position and a heater in the living room disconnected for the summer.

Mrs. Gray, the lone occupant of the house, suffered burns and was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment. A report of the incident was filed with the state fire marshal's department.

Sasyk Elected Madison Mayor, Takes Office

Defeats Kozelek by 312 Votes; Seated At Special Meeting

Mike Sasyk was seated as mayor of Madison Tuesday night, less than half an hour after final vote returns elected him to the office over three other candidates.

In a special meeting convened shortly after the last ward election in its election results, the city clerk's office, the city council canvassed the vote, adopted a resolution declaring Sasyk's election, approved the new mayor's bond and cheered and applauded the new mayor as he took the oath.

Sasyk defeated his nearest opponent, acting Mayor Ray Kozelek, by a vote of 1489-1177, the heaviest voting in a Madison city election in recent years. Two other candidates, Mrs. Pauline Moore and John F. Moore, figured only lightly in the balloting. Mrs. Lewis polled a total of 56 votes in the five Madison wards. Moore received 41 votes, 35 of them in his own Fifth Ward.

As a result of the special majority election, Sasyk will serve out the remainder of the term of the late Mayor Stephen Maers, who died Feb. 16 after serving 28 years as Madison's only mayor since the city incorporated in 1942. The term expires in April 1972.

Voiting Heavy

Tuesday's heavy balloting was attributed primarily to the spirited campaigns waged by Sasyk and Kozelek as the two leading contenders for the mayor's office. Sasyk has served as chairman of the Madison Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, and Kozelek is now serving his fourth term as alderman in the Third Ward.

Kozelek was named acting mayor by the city council immediately following the death of Mayor Maers.

In these capacities the two candidates played an active role in the leadership of the Madison City Organization, a political body with county-wide influence that is made up of city council members, precinct committeemen, city department heads, Venice township officials and Madison city employees.

The keen competition between the two men "in the mayor's campaign was reflected in a split in the leadership of the organization and divided department heads and city employees into two camps."

Balloting in the city's five wards showed Sasyk winner in four, Kozelek in one. Sasyk lived in Ward One. The results were: Ward One, Sasyk, 255 to 293 in Kozelek's favor also included a vote of nine for Moore. Ward Four vote of 295 to 293 in Kozelek's favor also included a vote of nine for Moore.

Ward Three Results

In Kozelek's home Ward Three, the acting mayor defeated Sasyk 278 to 270, a plurality that was insufficient to overcome Sasyk's leads in the other three wards.

Sasyk polled 321 votes in Ward One to 183 for Kozelek, 13 for Mrs. Lewis and two for Moore. In Ward Two, Sasyk outpolled Kozelek by 86 votes, receiving a total vote of 388 to 302 for Kozelek. Mrs. Lewis received 18 votes and Moore received two.

Airlines Endorse Illinois Airport, Ogilvie Reports

Construction of an airport in the Illinois sector of the metropolitan area has the endorsement of the major airlines and the "enthusiastic support" of the U.S. Department of Transportation, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie told a meeting of more than 400 public officials, civic leaders and business and industrial representatives in St. Louis Tuesday.

Discussing the economic impact of the proposed second major airport on both the Illinois and Missouri sides of the river, the governor told the group the airport would serve as a catalyst to widespread development of the Illinois area and to a revitalization of the downtown area of St. Louis.

While he made no mention of a specific site for the project, Ogilvie said that engineering and feasibility studies conducted for the state of Illinois during the past year "makes the possible sites in Illinois preferable to those in Missouri."

Plan Freight Complex

The governor spoke at a meeting sponsored by the Regional Industrial Development Corporation which has introduced and is supporting plans for development of an area-wide intermodal transportation and freight shipment complex to be operated in conjunction with the proposed airport.

D. Reid Ross, executive manager of RIDC, who spoke briefly at Tuesday's meeting, said the proposed new airport and the transportation complex combining air, water and rail-road shipping facilities would make this area "the gateway to the world."

Gov. Ogilvie, who was introduced by St. Louis Mayor A. J. C. Cervantes, touched only lightly on the agreement between the state and the city of St. Louis for joint sponsorship of the airport project. He said, however, that the agreement demonstrated that the airport must be a joint venture and that "each (side of the river) must share in the development of the new interdependence."

Noting that there had been some criticism of the Illinois-St. Louis airport agreement, Ogilvie said he wanted to answer some of the complaints. One of these, he said, was "the criticism of how we reached the agreement . . . that our meetings were secret until the agreement was reached."

"That was not true. Our meetings preceding announcement of the agreement were well publicized. It is true some of the Illinois studies were not made public as we went along, because to have discussed the plans and our hopes at that time would have been holding out false promises if anything had blocked the way."

Gov. Ogilvie added that "all aspects of our progress from now on will be made public."

The question also was raised, the governor said, as to why the Bi-State Development Agency was not chosen to serve as the airport authority. Under the agreement, a separate joint Municipal Airport Authority with representation from Illinois and the city of St. Louis will supervise the airport construction and administration.

"The airlines insisted that if they were to provide the revenue to pay off bonds for the airport project, they would do so only under the administration of a single-purpose authority whose attention was not divided between the airport and other operations," the governor said.

Supervisor Ross Absent

St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence Ross did not attend the luncheon meeting, but sent a letter to Delyte Morris, RIDC chairman, explaining that he had a speaking engagement.

"I talked with Ross a few days ago and he told me he would be unable to attend this meeting," Morris said, "but he sent to you, through me, his best wishes for this project."

Ross has been critical of the agreement between Illinois and St. Louis, maintaining that St. Louis county should have representation on the Municipal Airport Authority because of the large number of county residents who use the airlines.

Mayor Cervantes, in his introduction of the Illinois governor, told the audience that Ogilvie's appearance "marks the first time in more than a decade that an Illinois governor has addressed a St. Louis audience . . . It is indicative of the cooperation that will be essential in the future to the economic growth on both sides of the river."

Long Distance Calls, Love Topics of City Council

Love and long distance calls became topics of Granite City council members Monday night as they debated the $36,658 bill that included telephone charges amounting to $364.

Alderman Poulos was critical of the number of long distance calls made by the various city departments, and was advised the city, since the switchboard was abandoned in February, now has only two GLENVIEW lines for non-toll calls to St. Louis, while before, all departments and offices could use the switchboard's GLENVIEW line.

In arguing the matter, Poulos called upon the police and fire chiefs for explanations. He was advised the long distance calls to other cities were a necessity in conducting departmental business. Treasurer E. R. Rich said he regularly receives reimbursement for any personal long distance calls on city phones.

When Poulos remarked that the city should take all the phones out, Mayor Parney reminded him the council had agreed to private lines for most city departments and offices before the switchboard was will continue to have salaries of $422-a-month.

Alderman Moerlein, who has led the move to withhold salary payments for the two women dispatchers, protested both reassignments. He said Mrs. Hall's salary for her new post was not included in the budget and that Mrs. Russell's salary should be at the beginning rate of $350-a-month.

Mayor Partney replied that Mrs. Hall's pay was covered in the Air Pollution Control budget, and he pointed out Mrs. Russell's salary was based on experience as a city employee.

Pay Withheld Again

With the presentation of the $24,655 payroll for the last half of July, Moerlein called for withholding the pay for Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Russell, explaining this was being done on advice from the city attorney because of the pending quo warranto suit.

Mayor Partney commented, "Well, it looks like we'll start all over again."

Moerlein replied that balances of payments due Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Buttrey under the June 4 small claims court order would be paid. "You, Mr. Mayor," he added, "don't confer with your attorney, but you just use your little pamphlet."

Robertson asked the mayor where he could get a copy of the book of rules.

"These are Partney laws," the mayor retorted, adding, "I didn't think you'd need such a book, since we seem to have 10 or 11 attorneys on the council."

Whitmer interrupted to ask Scroggins if he had recommended that the women dispatchers not be paid.

Scroggins replied, "After tonight, I don't expect to be city attorney. It is my understanding the quo warranto suit is to be expedited, and it may be heard before Saturday. The women have been paid up to June 1st in accordance with the small claims court ruling. It is likely the current pay can be held up pending the results of the quo warranto proceedings."

"This is poppycock," Whitmer remarked.

Under the June 4 small claims court order, Mrs. Hall was paid $1000 and Mrs. Buttrey received $883 in salaries withheld by the council. The city also was required to pay the court costs.

In the quo warranto proceedings, the following issue are to be decided:

"The authority of the mayor to appoint personnel of the administration of the police department and the right of the mayor to set those salaries without the advice and consent of the council, including the right of the mayor to make 30-day appointments to such positions."

"Who has the right to appoint the chiefs of the fire and police departments under existing statutes and ordinances?"

In other business at Monday night's session pertaining to salaries, instructions were given for an ordinance to be prepared giving $50 monthly pay increases to City Building Inspector Orville Deltour and City Inspector Lawrence D. Drake. The increases had been authorized by the council. The appropriation ordinance is to be amended to take pay for fire and police commissioners in the police department section.

Nameoki Board Adopts New Bill Payment System

A new bill payment procedure under which Nameoki Supervisor Harry Briggs will be asked to submit a check and voucher along with each bill presented to the Nameoki town board for approval was set up by the town board in regular meeting Monday night.

The action was taken on a motion by Robert Beattie after Town Clerk Louis Whittell said that he had not received vouchers on bills paid since early May. Briggs, as supervisor of the township, is responsible for payment of all town bills.

Whittell said that under past procedure, Briggs presented bills to the town board for approval. After the board approved the bills, Briggs issued a check and a voucher for payment. The check was given to the claimant and the voucher went to the town clerk for Harry Briggs did not attend Monday night's meeting.

The clerk said that he has been unable to obtain the vouchers from Briggs since early May and that entries in the two books are now more than two months behind because he cannot reconcile account numbers without the vouchers.

The board also announced plans for a meeting of the town board with the Nameoki township citizens' committee at the town hall Monday night. Township Highway Commissioner Charles Hank and his attorney, Nick Vasiloff, have been asked to attend the meeting to discuss possible drainage improvement projects funded by funds from the township highway department.

Student Rights Same as Other Citizens -- Henry

Rights of students on a state university campus are exactly equal to the rights of citizens elsewhere, a luncheon gathering of 150 was told Tuesday by Dr. Henry.

It was the best-attended meeting in the University of Illinois Citizens Committee with officials of the university. Members of the committee's Southern Region present included two Granite Cityans, Howard W. Kaseberg and George T. Wilkins, Jr., the latter a former state superintendent of public instruction.

Speakers were Dr. David D. Henry, president of the university; Jack W. Pelton, chancellor of the Urbana-Champaign campus; George T. Frampton, vice-chancellor for campus affairs, also of Urbana-Champaign; and James J. Costello, university counsel. Presiding was Ralph C. Hahn, a member of the U. of Illinois board of trustees.

Dr. Henry stressed the role of the Citizens Committee, formed in 1963, in interpreting to the public the missions and accomplishments of the university. He said that a new ten-year plan is being developed.

Pelton discussed limitations on the university in supervising student publications. Frampton reviewed problems of mob control and resultant discipline and Castello spoke on "free speech on a public university campus."

All felt that the university has responded in a firm and reasonable manner to disruptions by students and non-students, but that the U. of Illinois and nearly all other institutions of higher learning have lost a damaging degree of public confidence. They called for increased public understanding and support.

While students have full rights under the U. S. Constitution and cannot be suspended or expelled arbitrarily, they have no license to violate the law and must be apprehended, when possible, and prosecuted, the audience was told. It was noted that while large crowds can pose problems, there are many valid reasons for students to assemble.

Anthony E. Bott served as arrangements chairman. Those attending included Madison County Supt. Wilbur L. L. Trimpe and Granite City School Supt. Bob J. Davis.

C. Edward Raymond of DeKalb, Citizens Committee representative on the group adding the trustees in selecting a successor to Dr. Henry as of September 1971, said a current list of 120 names may grow to 300 before being narrowed to a smaller number to be interviewed by the board.

Police Stop Fights at Venice Church Picnic

Edward Oates, 17, Venice, has been released on notice to appear for hearing on a disorderly conduct charge as the result of a fight during the last night of the St. Mary's church picnic in Venice, Venice police reported this week.

Officers said Oates was involved in one of several fights which police broke up during the evening. In one instance a group of about 100 bystanders threatened to become involved in the fight, but police quelled the disturbance without further difficulty.

Two of the fights involved only two individuals in each. The fight in which Oates, the only person to be arrested, was involved, was between black and white youths.

Traffic Arrest Puts Man in Jail On $20,000 Bonds

A motorist arrested in Madison for running a stop sign was held in the county jail at Edwardsville yesterday under $20,000 in bonds on charges growing out of an investigation by Madison police into ownership of the auto he was driving.

Police Chief Frank Dutko said David E. Dickens, 29, of 4159 Breckentridge lane, was named in two warrants charging unlawful use of weapons, possession of hypodermic needles and syringes, possession of a stimulant drug and theft over $150. Dutko said additional charges are possible, depending upon laboratory tests of a vial of white powder found on Dickens.

Dickens also was booked as a fugitive from St. Louis where he is wanted by police on a charge of using a fraudulent credit card, Dutko reported.

Dickens first was arrested by Madison Officer Paul Bargei on a charge of running a stop sign at Fourth street and Ewing avenue in Madison. Bargei said he was suspicious of the car ownership and after Dickens posted his driver's license as bond on the traffic charge and was released, the officer began a check with St. Louis police because the car Dickens was driving bore Missouri plates.

Sought in St. Louis Bargei said he learned that the car driven by Dickens was owned by the National Auto Rental, Inc. of St. Louis and had been rented through use of a fraudulent Standard Oil credit card. Dickens was being sought at the time by St. Louis police after other purchases have been made against the credit card in the company in the name of a St. Louis physician. A number of other purchases have been made against the credit card in the physician's name, Bargei said.

Madison police put out a pickup order and within 24 hours after Dickens had been ticketed for running the stop sign, he was apprehended in the 400 block of Madison avenue by Sgt. Ronald Grzywacz. Dickens still was driving the car in which he had been arrested the day before, officers said.

Find Gun, Shells Taken to police headquarters, Dickens' car was searched. Bargei reported that a two-shot Derringer pistol, loaded with two live shells, was found under the car seat. In the glove compartment, officers said, they found a paper bag containing 50 cartridges for the derringer, a box containing two syringes and needles, hypodermic needles, and three payroll checks of the Clark Hardfacing Co., 2080 Edwardsville road.

The payroll checks were not made out but did contain the figure of $36 which had been stamped by a check protector. The checks also had been imprinted with a "bonded" stamp. When Dickens was searched, officers said they found a bottle of white powder in one of

MORE ABOUT Council

His pockets and it has been sent to a laboratory for analysis.

Find Drug Prescription After Dickens was jailed, police searched the trunk of the car and found a prescription blank bearing the name of a Granite City physician. The prescription was for Desoxyn Amphetamine, Bargei said. By checking with the physician's office, it was apparent the physician's name on the form was not authentic police said.

Dickens was arraigned in magistrate court and bonds fixed at $7500 on the theft charge, $2500 for possession of the car, $7500 for the weapon charge, and $2500 for the drug possession charge.

Meanwhile, Granite City police revealed they also were investigating two cases in which stolen payroll checks of the Clark Hardfacing Co. had been cashed. Yesterday, the company reported to Granite City police that 25 company checks and 29 payroll checks had been stolen.

Investigate Check Theft It was undetermined when the checks were taken and police said there were no indications of forced entry at the company offices. Madison police said they will coordinate their investigation into the check theft reports.

Bargei said the theft charge against Dickens is based on his possession of the auto owned by the St. Louis firm and the alleged use of a fraudulent credit card to obtain possession.

Madison police said Dickens had served two prison terms for burglary at Jefferson City, Mo., and was released on the latest of these about two months ago.

Car Hit at Signal

Lila Scott, 2020 Warren avenue, reported at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday that the rear of her auto was struck while she was stopped for a traffic signal at 23rd street and Madison avenue. Upon arrival home, the chrome on the back bumper of her car fell off.

Two Autos Damaged

Hoods were damaged on autos of Stanley Kromary, 2010 Sunset drive, and Mike Mejaski, 2829 Sunset drive, while they were parked on the Nash street lot of Granite City Steel Co. before 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Lola Robinson, 57, Dies at Home

Mrs. Lola Robinson, 57, of 108 Lake drive, was pronounced dead at home by Coroner Robert Thomas at 6:30 p.m. Thursday. There will be an inquest to determine the cause of death.

Born in Arkansas, she had lived in Granite City for 40 years.

Survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ace Garner of Hampton, Va.; three sisters, Mrs. Audrey Grano of Northlake, Ill., Mrs. Helen Kelley of Monrovia, Calif., and Mrs. Jessie Belore of Hampton, Va.; one brother, Edwin Garner of Indianapolis, Ind.

Arrangements are incomplete. Other details are given in the obituary column.

Water Hole Punctured

E. F. Garin, 3372 Idaho avenue, reported at 10:40 a.m. Wednesday that four or five holes were punctured in a water hose at the side of his house between Friday and Monday.

Tax Objections

Scroggins answered, "You'll have a lot of tax objections. It would almost put the city in an impasse."

Alderman Robertson, who made a motion to reconsider the budget as adopted last week, stressed that the council had to take action or try to operate without money. "It's the duty of the council and the mayor to provide city services, and the mayor instead of cooperating, vetoes the budget by a letter."

His motion was approved by a vote of 12-1 with only Garin voting no. Aldermen Rutledge and Boyd, who are vacationing, and Alderman Parmley, who was at work, were absent.

Robertson also made the motion to override the veto, which carried with aye votes by Nann, Whitmer, Basarich, Dallas, Moerlein, Robertson, Poulos, Green, Dawes, Morlen and Schur. Voting no were Jarrett and Baker. Legal publication of the budget appears in today's issue on page 33.

Baker said he refused to vote for the budget because of the ridiculous salary set for the city attorney.

Veto Message In his veto message, the mayor stated:

"I veto Ordinance 2701 for the following reasons:

"1. There has been no economy move presented by the majority of the board of aldermen.

term, $13,000 for the straight L. P. system and $45,000 for the all electric system.

Each pointed out that L. P. gas is derived from natural gas and may not be plentiful in the future.

The L. P. systems would require an 18,000 gallon storage tank and related equipment above the ground with an underground gas line to the building. Aach said, and that an all electric system would require larger transformers, main panels and electric feeders than presently designed.

Aach said his choice for the moment would be to switch to the L. P. straight feed system. James Givens, engineer for the building at the Wein location, a larger structure, estimated that the additional cost for L. P. gas facilities would be $160,000 as larger volumes of flammable fluid would be required.

Air Condition Grigsby

The board awarded a contract to Strange & Coleman of East St. Louis to air condition Grigsby junior high school on a low bid of $64,764. Triangle Heating Co. bid $65,876. The estimated cost on the job was $60,000.

Tully A. Heubner, director of buildings and grounds, recommended that installation work proceed now, but it was doubted if the work could be completed by the start of the school year.

In other action the board selected suppliers of equipment, materials and services, generally on a low bid basis. Included are:

Successful Bidders Band, cheerleader and athletic uniforms, Grand cleaners and Monarch cleaners. Cafeteria Paper Goods, Clark Products, Inc., $1942; Switzer, Inc., $2395; Edray Foods, $1516; Chris Hoerr & Son Co., $249; Smith-Scharff Paper Co., $3270; Litchfield Grocer, $92; Sea Pans Corp., $16; Stocker Hausmann Foods, $2178; Switzer, Inc., $473; Tarius Meat Co., $183; Kraft Foods, $362; and Manhattan Coffee Co., $2992.

Diswashing materials, Hifa Brand and Calgon Commercial. Pipe and fittings, Siderman Supply Co. Concrete work, L. Wolf Co., $2333. Kitchen appliances (ranges), Sears Roebuck & Co., $2992.

"3. The financial position of the city has become desperate due to the expenditures for sewer repairs.

"4. The city will receive $168,000 from the Office of Emergency Preparedness for the replacement of the Lynch avenue sewer project. We have, as of June 25, paid out $28,234 for this project with an estimated $100,000 more due on completion.

Other Sewer Breaks

"5. The estimated cost on the Oaklawn sewer break of $26,200 without any help from OEP.

"6. The estimated cost on the Primrose and Clark avenue sewer break of $12,760 without any help from the OEP.

"7. The refund of $223,000 to working fund out of the first tax monies.

"8. The refund of $169,385 to the Nameki area sewer line reserve fund out of the first tax monies.

"9. The need of $300,000 for operating cost from May 1971 to July 1971.

"10. The removal of salaries for the city attorney and assistant city attorney.

"11. Each Alderman did not have a copy of the budget that was presented by the Finance committee for passage.

"12. This budget is far in excess of our income, taking in the above expenditures.

"It is my belief that we should operate as close to our income as possible and in the interest of the taxpayer's benefit in its tendency to lessen the burden of taxation."

Another Veto

An earlier veto by the mayor was upheld by the council Monday night.

It canceled last week's resolution transferring $167,956 of $300,000 OEP funds to the Nameki area operations maintenance, repairs and replacement fund.

Partney explained the amount should have been returned to the Nameki area sewer line reserve fund as specified in the original resolution adopted earlier this month. "This resolution should have been the same, requiring the money to have been repaid with the first funds from the OEP or tax monies. This time the OEP funds came first. We can borrow it again next week to pay the amount due the contractor on the sewer replacement project, but we must follow the procedure and adopt the resolution prepared for tonight to put the money back in the Nameki sewer line reserve account. We can borrow it back tomorrow," but we'll be saving the 5% interest cost on tax anticipation warrants.

The proper fund transfer resolution was adopted later in the meeting.

4 GC Teams Ready for Slow-Pitch State Meet

Granite City's hopes for a men's state slow-pitch softball championship will initially be tested tonight in the opening game of the 28-team double-elimination tourney at Decatur.

The Mexican Honorary Commission, which placed fourth in the Granite City regional, will face the champions of the Kah-kakee regional at 8 p.m.

Clark's Vikings, placing third here, will meet the Peoria regional champs at 8 p.m. Friday. GC Dodge, runnerup here, opens against the Champaign champs Friday at 9 p.m.

Granite City's best prospect, regional champion Rozycki Realty will take its first assignment Saturday at 9 a.m. against the Peoria runnerup. Other GC teams are also slated for Saturday games in the winners or losers bracket. GC teams could play Sunday games in the losers bracket.

The play will be continuous all weekend with the survivors returning the weekend of Aug. 2-3 for the final rounds.

The Caseyville regional champions, Al's 234 with Granite Cityans Bob Patrick and John Kipp playing on the team, will open play Thursday at 9 p.m. against the Champaign runnerup.

Cycle Races Saturday

Competition Could Keep Keen Canned

The American Motorcycle Association grand national racing circuit which includes every major hill climb trail, closed circuit and scramble race one can name, is shifting its schedule from the West Coast to the East Coast, the two focal lines of motorcycle racing.

The movement of riders, mechanics and bikes is travelling through this region and a number of them should be at the Tri-City Speedway Saturday night. Time trials start at 7:30 p.m. and racing commences at 8 p.m.

The competition may mar Neal Keen's perfect record of the past several weeks of winning every event he has entered.

Jim Rice, National No. 24, could be the rider to stop Keen. Rice won the 20-mile National at Santa Rosa, Calif., last Sunday and ranked second in the Grand National points standings.

Others who should be capable of matching revolutions with Keen are Dick Mann, National No. 2 and current Grand National points leader; Gene Romero, National No. 3; Dave Aldana, California No. 38 and ranking fourth in the Grand National standings; and Walt Fulton Jr., National No. 63.

The Illinois state women's slow-pitch softball champion will be decided in Wilson park this weekend.

Ten teams will play 18 or 19 games in double-elimination style. Games will start at 6 p.m. Friday, be played all day Saturday with final rounds and the title contest Sunday afternoon and evening.

Seven of the entered teams are from Granite City park district leagues. Two hail from East St. Louis, First National Bank of East St. Louis and Western Village, 9 p.m.

Paddlers will climax its competitive season with the Southwestern Illinois Swim Association (SWISA) conference swimming championships at Bellefontaine country club in St. Louis county starting at 9 a.m. through the afternoon Saturday.

Defending conference champion Summersport of Alton is the team to beat, again, this year. Paddlers hosted Summersport in a rain shortened dual meet Monday to lose 282 1/2 to 160.

Dorchester of Belleville, defending runnerup, also is expected to be strong. Paddlers will be seeking to improve their third place finish of last year. Other teams are Bellefontaine, Sunset Hills, Montclair of Edwardsville and Hilltoppers of Dupon.

Randy Thompson, Paddlers coach, notes that though in dual meets, the multiple-team all-conference meet could be a difficult assignment for the Alton swimmers. If Summersport's dual meet Monday to lose 282 1/2 to 160, Dorchester of Belleville, defending runnerup, also is expected to be strong. Paddlers will be seeking to improve their third place finish of last year. Other teams are Bellefontaine, Sunset Hills, Montclair of Edwardsville and Hilltoppers of Dupon.

Caruthers, Strickland Midget Crown Favorites

Jimmy Caruthers and Dave Strickland have extended their lead in the U. S. Auto Club midget drivers' championship standings.

The two drivers have ranked near the top of the standings throughout most of the season but until recent weeks over a dozen drivers remained in serious contention for the midget crown.

At the last addition of the points, Caruthers had moved to the top of the standings with the help of a feature victory at Clermont, Ind., for a 227.25 Sunday, Aug. 23.

Boys in the 13-14 years old age division could form a base for a Paddlers team win. Against Summersport Monday the 13-14 boys won the medley relay swim with the squad of Mike Baggot, Mark Loftis, Tom Hartman, and Kevin Hoebeck. Paddy Jim Baggot took first in the backstroke. The free style event saw Hartman place second and Loftis, third. Loftis was second and Hartman, third in the breaststroke.

Mark Buenger (11-12) earned wins in freestyle, individual medley and breaststroke events and swam on a winning medley relay squad.

Debbie Griffin (9-10) was the biggest winner for the girls winning freestyle, individual medley and breaststroke events.

Other Quad City swimmers 8-and-under — Rosie Baggot, freestyle; Kathy Becker, backstroke; Dave Jolly, freestyle; 9-10 — Ellen Hoebeck, freestyle; Ken Jolly, breaststroke; 11-12 — Mary Beatty, freestyle; Luis Guen, freestyle, individual medley; Kathy Millican, breaststroke; 15-17 — Kathy Lancaster, freestyle; Al Tharp, freestyle.

Homers by Collins, Team Work Chic In South Classic

Every Clarks Hardfacing player knocked a hit as the team beat W&W Confectionery 13-6, and Coachlighters gave a similar demonstration, with every player hitting, but bowed to Bob's Bait Shop 13-9.

Mercer couldn't brag about the same team hitting consistency but with the help of Charles Collins' back-to-back homers defeated Miles Lab 10-3 in Southern Classic slow-pitch action was at Worthen park Tuesday.

Mike Harris' four singles in four trips to the plate, Mike Starko's two doubles and Jim Smith's three safeties in a row led the way for perfect night by Clark's hitters.

Coachlighters gained a 17-13 hit advantage with the full round of hitters paced by John Hadley's three safeties, including a homer. Bob's Bait Shop hit his during a five-run inning and two four-run to take the victory. Bob's Bait's Tom Cholewick went three-for-three taking a trip to the plate in each of the scoring innings.

Mercer wrapped up a 15-10 hit advantage.

Batson Catches 6-Foot Sailfish

Charles Batson of 3117 Aubrey avenue, caught a six foot sailfish weighing 50 pounds at Koloa, Kauai in the Hawaiian Islands where he is vacationing while his wife, Mrs. Mary Batson is attending the National Business and Professional Womens Club convention. She represents the local BAPW Club as one of their delegates. Accompanied by a Mr. and Mrs. Bates of San Francisco, Calif., on the fishing trip it took the local resident about 45 minutes to land the fish. Batson was informed it would cost about $300 to mount the sailfish and a similar amount to have it shipped back to the mainland.

Hunters May Count Duck Bag Limit As Weight Watchers Count Calories

Illinois has been offered the opportunity of using a point system to determine the daily bag limit of ducks during the 1970 season, according to the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Tom Evans, supervisor of the division of game, said the system may be tried as an experiment in Illinois and Iowa. It has been tested in restricted areas in Colorado, California and Michigan.

According to Evans, each species of duck would be assigned a point value. Ducks like the teal or pintail that are abundant or are underharvested are assigned a low point value. Species that need special protection carry a high point value. The total number of points determines how many ducks may be bagged. The limit may vary according to the kinds of ducks taken. Evans continued:

"We do not know if we will have a point system in Illinois

yet. We do not know what the conventional Mississippi flyway season or bag limit will be. Because of this uncertainty we will not decide until the U. S. Department of the Interior sets the season length and the bag limit. If the point system will divert hunting pressure to more abundant species and will be attractive to the hunter we may accept it on an experimental basis.

If the regular season daily bag limit is set at four but may include only two mallards, it is apparent that a hunter could take more ducks under a point system if he shoots all or mostly all low value ducks.

"On the other hand, if the regular bag limit permits all four ducks to be mallards, the point system as offered would be a disadvantage to the hunter.

"Tentatively, we have been offered a 70-point bag limit. This is how the system would work: a mallard hen, canvas-back, black duck, redhead, wood duck hen, or a hooded merganser would be 60-point birds.

"A mallard drake, green-winged teal, wood duck drake, or a ring-necked duck would have a 25-point value.

"Blue-winged teal, widgeon, gadwall, E. widgeon, pintail, scaup, goldeneye, buffhead, ruddy duck, American merganser, red-breasted merganser and all other ducks would be worth 10 points each.

A hunter would have killed his limit of ducks when he took a bird that brought his total number of points to or just over 70.

"If a hunter first shot a mallard hen, a 60-point duck, he could take only one more bird. It could be of either sex and any species. If the first duck was a mallard drake, the hunter could take one more 60-point bird, or two more 25-pointers, or five 10-point birds. The greatest number of ducks he could take under any circumstances would be seven 10-point ducks."

If the points system is adopted the Department of Conservation will hold identification classes as an aid to sportsmen. The classes would be organized and held by the district biologists at several locations throughout the state. The classes would also aid the hunter in identifying teal for the special season in September. Biologists would use colored slides to illustrate their talks.

A pamphlet, "Ducks At A Distance," published by the U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, is available at no charge. Sportsmen may obtain the pamphlet by writing to the Division of Game, Illinois Department of Conservation, 100 E. Washington street, Springfield, Ill. 62706.

Conservation Dept.

To Protect Streams

The Illinois Department of Conservation is strongly opposed to stream alterations that result in a loss of fish or wildlife habitat, according to Dan Malkovich, acting director.

"No longer can we stand by idly while a governmental agency makes a straight, shallow ditch out of a stream that once supported a variety of fish and wildlife in its channel and along its banks," Malkovich said.

MORE ABOUT

lots, while in Ward Five a total of 288 votes was cast.

Madison politicians interpreted the vote in Ward Four as having considerable effect upon the political future of Christ Costoff, alderman of Ward Four and a close associate of Kozielek.

Costoff has been firmly entrenched as a political leader of the ward for more than 20 years and Kozielek's success in Tuesday's election depended to a great extent upon a sizeable majority in Costoff's ward.

The fact that Sasyk came out of the balloting only two votes behind Kozielek poses a question of Costoff's existing political strength in the ward, political observers said.

Special Meeting Called

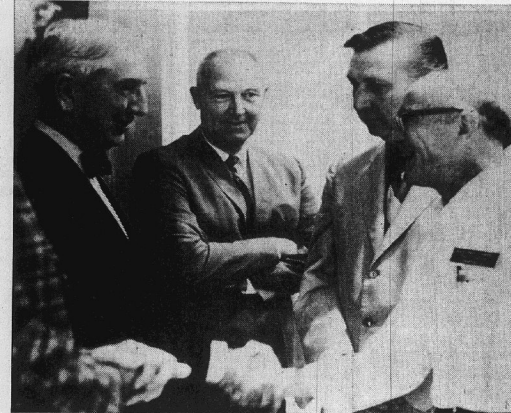

The special council meeting to seat the winning candidate immediately after the election Tuesday night called before the results of the balloting were known. The meeting was scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

Final returns by the last unreported ward — Ward Four — did not come into the clerk's office until about 8:15 p.m. As a result, the special meeting got under way at 8:40 p.m. — ten minutes late.

A standing-room-only crowd that lined the walls around the council chamber was on hand as Kozielek took the mayor's chair to serve for the last time.

"It was fun for the six months that I was here," Kozielek remarked as he called the meeting to order. The crowd broke into a roar of applause.

City Clerk John Belloff, Corporation Counsel John Gilchiff and City Attorney Nick Vasiloff tallied the vote returns from each ward in an official canvass that ended without any change in the results reported earlier by election judges. One addition was made to the record — one vote cast by write-in for Barney Fraundorf.

Approve Canvass

Results of the canvass were approved on a motion by Alderman Stanley Krakowski.

A resolution declaring Sasyk the winner was presented by Alderman Don Kismar, placed on final passage and adopted. As Belloff completed the roll call of aldermen on the floor, Kozielek said, "I vote aye on that also." This brought another resounding cheer from the audience.

Sasyk sat through the proceedings at the table usually occupied by Kozielek as an alderman.

In short order, the council set the new mayor's bond at $3000, approved payment of fees to election judges who served Tuesday, accepted and approved a bond presented by Sasyk and set Sasyk's salary as fixed by ordinance. The mayor's salary is $8000.

Sasyk Takes Oath

As the final order of business, Belloff administered the oath of office to Sasyk which again brought cheers and applause from the overflow audience that by this time extended into the corridor.

In brief remarks just before he relinquished the chair to Sasyk, Kozielek commented: "The election is over and Mr. Sasyk has been elected. I want to congratulate him and the people of Madison for the way they turned out to vote today."

"I hold no malice toward any one. There is room for a lot of improvement in Madison, in which we can all participate."

"In leaving this chair, I will continue to serve as an alderman and I will cooperate in every way that I can."

Sasyk introduced members of his family and then took the mayor's chair.

No Long Speech

"I'm not going to give a 30-minute speech because I didn't come prepared," he said. "I want to thank everyone for what they have done. I promise to do my best and to make you proud of this city."

Sasyk is a native and lifelong resident of Madison. He is 48. He is married and has three children, Karen Sue, Michael and Barbara. The family lives at 143 Fifth street.

The new mayor is engaged in real estate development and was developer of the Arlington Heights subdivision. With exception of his post as head of the police and fire board, Sasyk's only other public office before his election Tuesday was as justice of the peace from 1948 to 1952.

Two Attack Bicyclist In Alley at Madison

Ernest Vangilder, 1620 Third street, Madison, was attacked by two youths about 10:15 p.m. yesterday as he rode his bicycle in the alley in the 900 block of Madison avenue, according to Madison police.

Vangilder told officers that a white youth with a switch blade knife and a Negro youth with a club, knocked him from his bicycle. He was struck on the head with the club and scratched on the chest with the knife, police said.

Collide in Madison

Damage to the left front of an auto driven by Patricia L. Jackovitch, 1032 Greenwood avenue, Madison, resulted from a collision at 13th street and Madison avenue about 4:25 p.m. Tuesday in which a car driven by Oliver Mason, 1100 Calhoun street, Venice, backed into the Jackovitch car. Mason's car was undamaged, police said.

Grand Jury to Review Sheriff's Mileage Policies

A review of mileage payment policies of the Madison county sheriff's office is scheduled to be presented to the county grand jury beginning today at Edwardsville.

The probe follows allegations by Louis Bowman of Alton, Republican candidate for sheriff, who complained to the state's attorney's office about a month ago that false mileage claims were being made and paid to two sheriff's deputies.

John Dale Stobbs, assistant state's attorney, may call 30 persons to testify, including the two un-named deputies under attack by Bowman.

But Bowman was critical of the action as he was not among those subpoenaed. He announced earlier that he had documented evidence on his charges which he presented to the state's attorney's office, and has called for the return of his documents.

In a statement issued Tuesday, Bowman remarked that "the very unusual action by the state's attorney to subpoena the two deputies involved in the alleged thefts and not myself or the sheriff (who is away on a month's vacation), who is responsible for the acts of his deputies by statute, can only be described as another horrendous display of due process of law and justice for the taxpayers in this county."

When the state's attorney's office adopts the role of judge and jury by answering my charges against the sheriff's department as being 'politics' instead of placing the matter before the grand jury immediately, then I can only wonder if the rumors are true that our prosecutor's office serves as an instrument to ward off a thorough and complete investigation of the sheriff's department for fear of where it might lead or what it might reveal.

"In all fairness to the people of this county, I believe the attitude of the state's attorney's office justifies and necessitates a request by our circuit court for the immediate intervention of the Illinois attorney general for a full-scale investigation of this matter, and if necessary, to cause the state's attorney's office to appear before an impartial grand jury to justify the department's 40 cents per mile per prisoner and the practice of reimbursing deputies for their travel."

Mileage payments are divided equally among all deputies by Sheriff George Musso each six months regardless of the amount of travel by each deputy. He contends that the practice maintains harmony on the staff and that it saves money for the county.

Two local girls were selected to take part in the ceremony. Deborah Hand was chosen to present to Msgr. Burns a sash decorated with badges representing all areas of Girl Scout achievement, and Twilla Scherzy was chosen to carry the Holy water to the priest.

Attending with Mrs. Hand were her children, Deborah, John, Melody, Kimberly and Dennis. Others in the group were Lola, Alvin and Joanie Scherzy, Erva Kauri, Laurie Bushroo, Carol Mae, Evan, Haustein, Terry Mills and Cindy Garbar.

More than 3000 boys and girls, representing Girl and Boy Scout troops, Cub Pack and Brownie troops and other youth groups, attended the Mass. The local Catholics were accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Joyce Hand, and two mothers, Mrs. Leo Keel and Mrs. Betty Scherzy.

Attend Queen's Garden Party

USAF Major and Mrs. Norman E. Stroehde were among guests invited recently to attend the Queen's garden party at Buckingham Palace in London, the officer's parents learned last week.

The garden party event annually highlights the summer social season in Britain and is attended by members of Britain's royal family, ambassadors to the Court of St. James and representatives of foreign service groups.

Maj. Stroehde was one of four U. S. Air Force personnel selected to represent a USAF intelligence unit, based in the London area, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman W. Stroehde. The officer was accompanied to Buckingham Palace by his wife, the former Miss Glenna Morris of Carbon, Mo.

A 1950 graduate of Granite City high school, the 17-year Air Force veteran received a bachelor of science degree in history and education from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale campus. He entered the service immediately upon completion of his college studies through the Reserve Officer's Training Corps program. Prior to assignment to the DIALL Air Force Intelligence group in London two years ago, Maj. Stroehde was based for 12 months in Thailand. He expects to remain at his present post another 12 months.

With the couple in England are their five children, Vicki, 16, Barbara, 14, Caryn, 12, Eric, nine and Jennifer, eight.

The officer's parents recently moved from Granite City to Brussels, Ill., after residing here 30 years. Maj. Stroehde has a brother, Robert, who is a member of the Granite City fire department.

Attorney General Issues Warning On 'Free' Books

Illinois Atty. Gen. William J. Scott's Consumer Fraud and Protection Division today warned all Illinois residents to be wary of door-to-door salesmen and telephone solicitors who offer "free encyclopedia sets" to the public.

The attorney general also warned young persons, particularly high school and college students, to beware of misleading and exaggerated offers of summer employment in connection with sales of encyclopedias, or other merchandise or "services."

The consumer division stressed that there are many fine and completely legitimate encyclopedia firms and said the warning does not concern them, but relates to those firms which are involved in misleading sales or employment tactics.

Fee for Supplement

Scott's office said the "something-for-nothing" offer of free encyclopedias usually is bogus since the customers are required to purchase a year book supplement for 10 years at a cost which, in fact, covers both the original set and the supplement.

Investigations by the attorney general's office indicate that some salesmen represent themselves as conducting an advertising and promotion campaign or a "research survey" for the encyclopedia firm. The salesman tells the customer that the firm is selecting "approved families" in specific areas to receive the free sets of encyclopedias. Quite often, the salesman will explain that the encyclopedias are not yet on the market and that the company is placing them in selected model homes rather than spending money for advertising.

The word selling, or sales, is never mentioned, and, in fact, a representation may be made that nothing is being sold, that the encyclopedias are free, and that the salesman, as an advertising agent, is engaged in a promotion campaign.

At the end of the sales pitch, the so-called advertising representative will inform the prospective purchaser that even though the encyclopedias are free, the company wishes to make sure that all of their sets are kept up to date, so the recipient will have to buy their yearly supplements.

Watch What You Sign

The purchaser, in many cases, thinks he is signing a receipt for the "free encyclopedia" when he actually is signing a purchase contract.

Attorney General Scott said such practices and deception are misleading and in violation of the Illinois Consumer Fraud Act.

One large company presently is under investigation. Scott's office said. The Attorney General's office urged anyone who feels he has been victimized by these sort of sales tactics to contact Scott's Consumer Protection Division in Chicago.

Young people seeking summer jobs should beware of newspaper advertisement offering a specified weekly salary when, in fact, the jobs advertised will pay on a commission basis only, Scott's office said.

These ads often are listed as "public relations" and "research marketing," and additionally, frequently declare "no experience necessary, train at our expense."

However, after the young people have invested a week or two of their time in the sales training process, they are persuaded to take a job on a commission basis. When given their territory, they find the area already has been saturated by previous solicitors, and also, they are disappointed to find that the product they are selling is not as attractive as they have been led to believe.

Atty. Gen. Scott urged young job seekers to ask questions before committing themselves, and to be sure they are given something in writing that will specify the salary they are to receive.

Seats Remain for 'Y' Trip to Ballgame

YMCA Youth Director Charles Hulse announced today that space is still available for the trip to see the St. Louis Cardinals play the New York Mets on Wednesday, Aug. 5. Fee for the trip is $1.25 for members and $1.75 for non-members.

Boys and girls, 8-16, are eligible to sign up for the trip. The bus will leave the "Y" at 6:30 p.m. and return about 11 p.m. The fee must be paid at time of registration.

1870 Constitution Reflects Drive To Exploit Environment of State

By MICHAEL HILFRINK
Student Reporting Project, University of Illinois

Illinois politicians in 1870—the year the present state constitution was adopted—were more interested in exploiting the environment than in preserving it.

Beneath that central fact lies the nature of the task confronting the Con-Con delegates in Springfield today: they must recast the constitution in light of new ideas, new attitudes.

The present constitution is the product of the age of railroad moguls and robber barons. Nothing underscores more powerfully than the story behind the document—article 24 of the Schedules section—better known as the Quincy amendment.

The stock purchases were made with the understanding that the railroad would lay track from Quincy about 60 miles east to the Illinois River.

Quincy then decided to stretch west into Missouri, just across the Mississippi River, and on Jan. 30, 1867, with a overwhelming majority but a smaller voter turnout, approved the use of municipal bonds to purchase the Quincy amendment stock in the Quincy and Palmyra railroad, which was to lay a track from Quincy, across the river and about 15 miles south, to Palmyra.

But railroads, decades earlier, had already become a source of contention, a wedge between Upstate and Downstate Illinois—the beginnings of the classical dichotomy that persists even today.

Powerful interests and powerful personalities fought the interests of Northern Illinois, of Galena and Chicago.

Quincy voters continued the trend by bonding a rail-building extravaganza in 1868 by agreeing to raise $100,000 to construct a line by rail from Quincy and Lay Grange in northern Missouri and to a proposed Mississippi and Missouri Air Line Railroad.

The track was laid by 1870 and was very profitable. It caused the M and M Air Lines railroad to which it was supposed to connect was never built.

These bond issues of the years 1861-1868 were just a prelude, however, to the $500,000 in issue and grandiose schemes of 1869, schemes Quincy managed to protect constitutionally through the adoption of article 24.

On June 24, 1869, the Quincy, Missouri and Pacific Railroad was organized, mostly by Quincy businessmen dreaming of a gateway to the West, to construct a route from point on the Mississippi opposite Quincy to a point on the Missouri River opposite Brownsville, Neb., an ambitious undertaking demanding the laying of 230 miles of track.

On June 24, 1869, the Quincy, Missouri and Pacific Railroad was organized, mostly by Quincy businessmen dreaming of a gateway to the West, to construct a route from point on the Mississippi opposite Quincy to a point on the Missouri River opposite Brownsville, Neb., an ambitious undertaking demanding the laying of 230 miles of track.

It was Quincy's rail ambition that drove Browning to lobby successfully for the adoption of article 24.

The city sits in a never-ending land in west central Illinois, tucked among hills and prime farmlands that form the Mississippi River, a land of wrinkled ridges and prairies.

But Quincy was more than a setting for a fairly convenient life. It was a city of about 30,000 in 1870—a hustler and bustling with an eye to the future. Some of the early civic leaders, as early as 1851, foresaw the decline of the river as an important carrier of freight, and the rise of the railroad.

If Quincy's economy remained tied to her position on the river, they argued, she could atrophy in the competition for industry that was essential for a city to participate in the burgeoning machine and factory age.

So, beginning in 1851, Quincy began conducting the first of several bond issue elections that would enable the city to purchase stock in railroads in return for agreements that the railroad would establish a line near the city.

In March of that year the city council conducted a city-wide bond issue election to determine if the city should purchase $100,000 of Northern Cross railroad stock.

This was to be the first of several stock purchases which would secure for Quincy a niche in a general scheme, being advocated at the time, that called for the construction of three north-south railroads and two east-west railroads crisscrossing the state.

The Northern Cross was to be the railroad running east and west through the center of the state.

A Southern Cross line was proposed as an east-west line through southern Illinois but was never built.

The Illinois Central line, enshrined in a highly privileged position by the constitution of 1870, actually was constructed and still operates under that name as the north-south line running through the center of the state. There also were plans for north-south lines to be built east and west of the Illinois Central.

Quincy hoped to become the western terminus of the Northern Cross line and also to be an important stop in the north-south line proposed for western Illinois. This would place the city at the junction of two major rail lines.

The 1861 bond issue was overwhelmingly approved and the city purchased the stock by turning an equivalent amount of Downstate delegates, however, weren't so sure that Northerners were sincere in their devotion to the state's welfare.

The Downstate delegates argued that the section, proposed by Chicago delegates, was designed to keep southern Illinois cities from developing rail lines that would compete with Chicago lines.

One Downstate delegate charged that Chicago and Northern Illinois had ruined most of the railbuilding necessary for development of Upstate Illinois, which had not completed its railbuilding efforts under its heel.

Golf, Sport of Vice-Presidents, May 'Try Spirit of Men' But They Always Try Again

Westbrook Pegler once described golf as "the most useless outdoor game ever devised to waste the time and try the spirit of man." He may have been right; at least many Quad-City devotees of the links might tend to agree after a particularly disappointing score. But he was wrong against the tide.

Golf is gaining in popularity by leaps and bounds, and most feel the bound laid on the ball or the leaps of joy as a 20-foot putt sinks out of sight.

In number of players, the sport has grown 18½% in the last decade. Today, there are more than 13 million golfers—and 11 million of them play more than 15 times a year, testifying to the hold golf gains on the individual once he or she has learned, with Vice-President Agnew, that it is not considered good form to conk a fellow player on the head with a wayward shot, but to instead hit the ball as far and as straight as possible.

About 300 golf courses are being built annually in the U.S. and there are more than 10,000 of them in operation right now, including several dozen in Illinois. The nearest Quad-City area or within a few minutes' drive.

Golf may not seem to be more than a way of enjoying healthful exercise and enjoyable recreation, but it contributes mightily to the Gross National Product.

The courses are estimated to be worth $2.8 billion and they cost $500 million annually to maintain. Golfers spend another $500 million on golf clothing and equipment. Taking into account all equipment—clubs, balls, golf carts and like—annual clothing, club memberships, green fees, pro lessons and refreshments at the 19th hole, it all adds up to an astonishing $6 billion a year. And two out of every five golfers take a vacation each year devoted exclusively to playing golf, spending $800 million in the process.

On a Clear Day, From the Gateway Arch, You Can Almost See Diamond Head, Samoa and Fiji

Although fully a part of the Midwest, the bi-state metropolitan area in which we are located never has been "as corny as Kansas in the Midwest." That is, the peregrinations of its residents and to the worldly variety of cultural, entertainment and educational activities in and near this region, it has always had a bit more sophisticated and less provincialism, than might be assumed by a casual observer.

Nevertheless, Quad-Cityans have not usually had access to direct transoceanic flights from the start of the Quad-City-Hawaii nonstop flights Saturday and a few weeks to local food and drink vocabularies. The journey will take more than eight hours, during which passengers will be served local treats and also a meal-sized snack. Because the airline also is offering connecting flights to Fiji, American Samoa, Australia and New Zealand, a Polynesian at night might see Maybelle Saylor's flight across the Southwest and the Pacific.

College-Passport to Affluence or Way to Broaden Understanding?

(Eaton, Colo., Herald)

Going to college and working hard to be successful. The very idea that a college to benefit mankind is not a passport to affluence, a way to avoid hard labor.

Today, college is painted as a passport to affluence, a way to avoid hard labor. They are not told that college is a means of enriching life, to increase one's capacity for enjoying and understanding life, and most of all that education is a lifelong process—not just a four-year cram session.

The entire philosophy of the American dream has changed from that of the pioneers, who founded the most wonderful nation in the world. It is what we like to call the "pioneer spirit."

These delegates, apparently, were subjected to some severe arm twisting by Browning, other Downstate cities in much the same position as Quincy, such as Mattoon, protested the political chicanery by which Quincy won the exemption from the section.

There was an unusually large number of delegates from the State Supreme Court. The vote was taken on the Browning proposal, with Medill among them.

The actual vote, according to the journal, showed several Upstate delegates voting for the proposal and several Downstate delegates, apparently angered over the fact that only Quincy was being granted exemption.

Proposed 1970 Constitution Grants Right to a Healthful Environment

(Springfield Scene)

The Constitutional Convention last week took the first major step in giving every citizen of Illinois the right to a healthful environment. The vote was 85-15 in favor of recommendations for approval and would give the individual the right standing to enforce that right.

The article adds the areas of pollution abatement and environmental protection to the constitution for the first time. The present charter has no provision protection guarantee whatever.

The heart of the proposed Article is the final section, allowing the individual citizen to enforce his right to a healthful environment through appropriate legal action.

The Convention earlier in the week tentatively approved the entire Legislative Article when it agreed to a reappointment plan initially empowering the Legislature to reappoint.

The General Assembly reached no agreement, an eight-member commission would be appointed and—if the event—nominal commission failed commission for other malfeasance incurred by them in connection with publication to the election.

The Convention's decision was to authorize the printing of 11,700,000 newspaper inserts which would be distributed as 5,500,000 mailed directly by election officials to all registered voters in Illinois.

Tristan da Cunha, Where Are You?

(American Institute of Physics)

The little island of Tristan da Cunha in the South Atlantic is a mile away from where maps and nautical charts say it should be.

Columbia University oceanographers discovered the error by means of the Navy's earth satellite navigation system. A special receiver-computer aboard ship can plot a point on the open ocean to within 100 feet.

"This surprising discrepancy is important because shoals around Tristan and other islands can be serious navigational hazards," Vincent Re-Cutler, a research associate of Columbia University's Lamont-Doherty Geological Observatory, says.

Re-Cutler says the error in mapping Tristan could have been caused by inaccurate sextant measurements. He thought that other people who might be similarly misled.

Jeffries Named To Assistantship At Grigsby JHS

James J. Jeffries, social studies teacher at Granite City high school, was appointed assistant principal at Grigsby junior high school Monday night by the board of education.

The board reappointed B. J. Davis as superintendent of schools.

Five new teachers were employed and one resignation was accepted. Submitting the resignation was Mrs. Linda K. And, second grade teacher at Webster school. Personal reasons were given as the cause. Hired were:

Mrs. Anita M. Bauer, 23, of 3821 Village lane, bachelor of science degree from St. Louis University and one year experience, as an educable mentally handicapped teacher.

Mrs. Phyllis A. Hager, 26, of Indianapolis, Ind., B.S. from Purdue University, two years experience, for home economics at Coolidge junior high school.

Mrs. Sandra A. Hughes, 29, of 5 Fairway Estates, B.S. from the University of Missouri, five years experience, as an English teacher at the high school.

Mrs. Judith A. Kanke, 23, of Belleville, B.S. from Eastern Illinois University, two years experience, upper primary teacher at Mitchell school.

Miss Marilyn Sues, 22, of 1516 Cottage avenue, B.S. from Illinois State University, no experience, as a kindergarten teacher at Washington school.

Her return from leave of absence by Mary A. Tieman, fifth grade teacher at Wilson school, was approved effective Aug. 31.

A part-time instructor was added to the vocal music staff for new classes for special education children at the YMCA and McKinley, Lake and Wilson schools. She is Miss Sharon L. Aubuchon, 23, of St. Louis, who holds a B.S. degree from William Jewell College.

A change in the substitute teacher pay policy was adopted, providing one-half day of pay for one-half day of substitute work. In the past, a full day of pay was paid for a half day of work when the teachers were not notified of the half day of work on the preceding day.

Red Cross Christmas Project

Beginning with the school year salaries for degree teachers will be $31 per day and $15.50 per half day, and for non-degree teachers, $26 per day and $13 per half day.

In the Madison and Venice districts, substitute teachers receive $30 per day and $15 for a half day.

Volunteers Needed to Sew Ditty Bags for GIs

Shopping early for Christmas begins today at the Tri-City Red Cross Chapter for the sixth consecutive year. Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, chapter executive said this week.

"Santa's helpers" here will join with Red Cross volunteers in more than 1600 communities throughout the United States in "Shop Early—Vietnam 1970," the Red Cross program which annually provides a sufficient number of holiday gift-filled bags for each American serviceman and woman who is in South Vietnam during the Christmas holidays.

Again this year the Red Cross is asking other community service organizations, religious groups, business firms and individuals to join in helping to collect the items needed to fill the brightly-colored drawstring bags which volunteers will make. Mrs. Overbeck said.

"The Red Cross Shop Early project is just one way Americans can show that they care about our young men and women serving in South Vietnam," the chapter executive said.

The local chapter has been asked by the national organization to provide as many bags as possible. "It's so, we need volunteer groups to start preparing the ditty bags immediately," she said, noting that the deadline for shipping the filled bags has been moved forward to Sept. 25.

Instructions on how to make the small sacks may be obtained by calling the Red Cross office at 452-7184, or by visiting the ARC headquarters, 1411 Twenty-first street. Last year, close to 30 groups in Granite City and Madison participated in the ditty bag project.

Among the most useful items the servicemen enjoy finding in a Christmas gift bag are ball-point pens, plastic soap cases, small address books, washcloths, nail clippers, plastic cigarette holders, plastic cigarette cases and toothbrush holders and small vacuum-packed tins of nuts or candies.

Additional items may be included by the volunteers filling the sacks. Each bag will also contain a holiday greeting card listing the contributors and the name of the chapter where the bag was made and filled, Mrs. Overbeck explained.

"The servicemen and our staff overseas have sent many wonderful comments about the fine response by the community to this annual project," the Red Cross official said. "It is a project greatly appreciated by the servicemen and one in which the entire community can get behind," she added.

Lynch Avenue Yards to Be Restored Without Swale

Restoration of yards along the Lynch avenue sanitary sewer easement to the original condition—without a drainage swale or drainage line—was ordered Monday night by Granite City council members.

A delegation of Lynch avenue residents was in the audience to protest the planned swale, or shallow ditch that would flow to Maryville road.

Completion of the replacement sanitary sewer line is near, and a temporary drainage ditch has been created, with the shallow swale proposed by the city engineer upon completion of the sewer replacement project.

The yards, frequently torn up for sewer repair work in recent years, are to be returned to their original conditions as agreed upon by the city when permission was sought several months ago to undergo the sewer replacement work with funds from the federal Office of Emergency Preparedness.

While the engineer urged adequate drainage along the easement, Mayor Partney and several aldermen kept reminding him of the city's promise and the need to complete the project by the August deadline. "If we try to put in a drainage line, we'll miss the deadline and we'll have to repay the federal funds," Partney cautioned.

The engineer said 800 to 1000 feet of drainage line could be installed to prevent "lakes" following rains. The system would include four to six catchbasins, and the cost was estimated at $9000 to $10,000.

When Lynch avenue residents called for restoration of their yards, the engineer pointed out the manholes along the new sanitary sewer line were raised two feet and protrude that distance above the ground to prevent surface water from entering the sanitary lines. "Some people think their yards were cut down, but we had to raise the manholes and install reinforced concrete manholes to prevent individuals from draining yard water into the sanitary sewer line," he added.

As a further explanation, the engineer said that in the past the persons knocked holes in the brick manholes of the old sanitary sewer line to drain off surface water. "That was one reason for the sewer line breaks," he explained.

The Lynch avenue residents also protested other drainage to Maryville road, pointing out that the street floods during rains and stressing their fear that water would backup any swale or drainage line into their yards.

They pointed out a 15-inch drainage line recently was connected onto a Maryville road catch basin that empties into a 12-inch line which flows to the Nameoki area storm water drainage ditch.

It was brought out the 15-inch line off Pine street had been installed by Nameoki township and that approval was given by the state highway department and levee district.

Council members voted to have the 15-inch line sealed at the manhole over protests by Street Supt. Warfield, who said it had not been determined if the manhole actually is in the city. City Engineer Kiberg was critical of the Pine street storm line design, saying it would create more problems than it would correct.

An engineer study is to be made to determine if the manhole is city property.

City Again Will Seek Left Turn Signals

Another try will be made by Granite City council members for left turn signals to be installed at the busy Nemoeki-Fehling-Johnson road intersection.

Police Chief Veizer and Mayor Partney were asked by Alderman Poulos to renew the request in the hope the state highway department will review the problem a fourth time.

"It's dangerous at that intersection," Poulos stressed, as both Chief Veizer and the mayor pointed out the state has repeatedly refused to consider the left turn arrows, based on traffic counts. Poulos called for another count, commenting, "It will be worth it, if we can prevent one accident or one injury."

He also called for traffic signals on Fehling road at State street. "That also is a dangerous place, and someone is going to get killed there," Poulos remarked, in calling for a study by the Traffic Committee.

Need for no-parking zones along Fehling road at the curve adjacent to a baseball diamond was pointed out by the alderman. He commented, "You can't hardly get through when cars are parked on both sides of the curve." An ordinance is to be prepared.

State approval was received for three motor fuel tax improvement projects, and the notifications were placed on file without any call for bids.

The projects, which call for 30-foot surfacing, curbs and drainage, are to be Ferguson avenue from Washburn avenue to Prairie avenue; Bremen avenue from Washburn to Ball avenue; and Spring avenue from Washburn to Prairie. Each project has been estimated to cost $7500.

Two ordinances for traffic controls were approved, placing stop signs on 21st street at Washington avenue and yield right-of-way on Riviera drive at Clark avenue.

An amendment to the insect fogging control ordinance to prohibit youngsters from running or riding bicycles in the town was approved, along with an amendment to the solicitor licensing law, which specifies "no solicitor in calling for a study by the city clerk's office rather than from the chief of police."

A permit was issued to Illinois Power Co. for four excavations along the 20th business street, to relocate a gas main prior to start on the Johnson road improvement project. Also approved was a request from Illinois Power to install a 21-mile of electric transmission lines over the city's easement south of Edwardsville road.

Engineer Study Referred to the city engineer was a request from Robert L. Toburen to install a new sanitary sewer connection for an apartment at 1553 Johnson road on Terrace lane rather than in the middle of Johnson road. Toburn said he would pay costs of sidewalk and curb replacement and preferred not to excavate Johnson road, causing a traffic problem.

Based on a report made by Alderman Whitmer, council members voted to uphold a decision by the Zoning Board of Appeals to approve construction of a home on a 56-foot lot at 284 State street. Whitmer said he met with objectors and the builder, Tom Skothe, and an agreement was reached.

A contract with Gulf Oil Co. to provide gasoline and fuel oil to the city was approved after it was determined the firm's bid was lowest of three received. Subject to state taxes, the gasoline costs will be 13.65 cents per gallon for regular gas, 15.15 cents for premium, 14.25 cents and 12.60 cents per gallon for two grades of fuel oil and 14.25 cents per gallon for kerosene.

Permission was given Calvary Baptist Church, 30th street and Washington avenue, to expand its parking lot driveway from 20 feet to 60 feet, and for Grace Baptist Church, 2000 Edwardsville road, to conduct a Bible school motorcycle in East Granite at 3 p.m. Aug. 8.

Navy Mothers Club 850 was given permission to conduct its annual Sailor Boy "Tag Days" on Sept. 24-25. Mrs. Alice Christensen, unit chaplain, said all funds will go to welfare projects for servicemen.

Two Checks Forged. One Is Cashed Here

Police are investigating deceptive practice and forgery cases involving stolen payroll checks made out on Clark's Hardfacing service, 2080 Edwardsville road, to Jimmy Leo Forte, 3112 Willow avenue.

One for $64.25 was cashed at Houser Automotive, 18th street and Madison avenue. It was reported at 3 p.m. Monday by the First Granite City National Bank which stopped payment.

The same bank had reported at 1:45 p.m. Monday that a man attempted to cash a Clark check for $143.92, but he apparently realized he was being checked and drove away in a blue sports car with Indiana license plates.

He was described as being 19 to 22 years old, with medium dark brown hair, light complexion and wearing sun glasses.

AF Sgt. Jerry Devany Assigned in Thailand

U. S. Air Force Sgt. Jerry T. Devany, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Devany of 525 Jefferson avenue, is on duty at Taichi Royal Thai AFB, Thailand. A 1966 graduate of Venice high school, he attended SIU at the Southwestern campus.

4 Registration Centers Scheduled this Weekend

Four special registration centers at which new voters may register for the Nov. 3 election balloting will be held in the Quad-City area Friday and Saturday by special deputy registrars of the Madison county clerk's office. Presently registered voters who need to correct their records may do so at the centers, according to County Clerk Eulalia Holz.

The weekend schedule is the first of a series of such special centers to be held in the Quad-City area and other sections of the county as a convenience for newly qualified voters who will be able to vote for the first time in the November election.

Miss Holz noted that without arrangements for the special registration periods in various locations, voters would have to go to Edwardsville to register or make changes in their records.

Two registration periods are scheduled tomorrow and two on Saturday. Tomorrow's centers will be conducted at the First Granite City National Bank from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., and at Maryland Bi-Rite Market, 2205 Pontoon road from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

On Saturday the centers will be held at the Food Wagon Tom Boy Market, Pontoon Beach, 3500 women at the International Women's Fellowship Quindennial Assembly at Purdue University recently and before the group at the General Assembly of Christian Churches in August 1969.

date of a similar registration period at the Kroger store in Nameoki-Village shopping center. Registration at that location is scheduled for Friday, Aug. 7.

Persons qualified to vote in the Nov. 3 election are those who will be 21 years of age on or before Nov. 3, a resident of the state for one year, the county 90 days and the precinct in which they live 90 days.

Voters already registered but who will be required to correct their registration records before voting in the November election include those who have moved since the last election or who have changed their names, either through marriage or by court order.

Press-Record Youth Focus

The conclave and activities committees for the James Earl Ray Chapter of DeMolays are scheduling car washes for the next two weeks as fund-raising projects.

The "washes" will be held on Fridays from noon to 7 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tomorrow, the car wash will be held at Bellemeor Sinclair station, Nameoki road and 4th avenue, and on Saturday at Branding's Mobil station, Johnson road and Wabash avenue.

The following week on Friday, Aug. 7, the wash will be at Fina Service station, Eighth street and Madison avenue, and on Saturday, Aug. 8 at Brandings again.

Proceeds are to be used to defray expenses for the 42nd annual conclave at Arlington Park, Aug. 14-16.

Also planned was the annual picnic for DeMolays, their families and prospective members on Sunday at Pers Marquette park.

Ralph Reeder Jr. took the singles crown and Mike Hickey and Reeder won the doubles competition at the chapter's first source held at Wilson Park courts, last Friday, it was announced.

LEADING THE FIELD, a first grade pupil crosses the finish line well ahead of her opponents in the Granite City park district's 'Junior Olympic Games' at Wilson Park. The contests resumed Tuesday after rain forced postponement of the annual event last week. Winners in the 25-yard dash were Tina Sedabres, Trena VanKirk and Paula Bargiel.

Parkview Center Wins 1970 Jr. Olympics

For the second consecutive year, Parkview playground center scored the highest number of overall team points to capture a traveling trophy and win the ninth annual "Junior Olympic Games," sponsored by the Granite City park district.

Participants representing 11 playground centers conducted by the park district during the summer months competed in obstacle races, running events, shuttle relays, sack races and standing jump.

A large crowd of spectators ringed the Wilson Park diamond where the games were resumed Tuesday afternoon, after a sudden thundershower forced postponement of events last Thursday evening. Traditional pregame ceremonies had been completed last week before the deluge started.

Parkview center tallied a total of 89 points, topping the 1969 overall team score by four points. Closest center was Niedringhaus center with 60 points, followed by Marshall with 58 and Nameoki with 42 points.

Other centers and their team scores were McKinley, 35; Wilson, 32; Webster, 17; Salvation Army, 14; Washington, 11; and Lincoln Place community center, four.

GCHS Coach Don Deterding served as head scorer for the track and field contests, assisted by David McClain. Members of the park district's summer recreation staff were judges and starters.

Ribbons were presented to youngsters who placed first, second and third.

Registration to Start For New GCHS Students

Students who have moved into the community during the summer months and plan to attend Granite City high school this fall must register next week at the high school office, it was announced today by Assistant Principal Steve Jones.

Registration of newcomers to the local high school will take place Monday through Friday, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Students should report to the GCHS main office with report cards and other records from their schools, if at all possible, Jones said.

Early registration is essential for students not having previous school records in the possession of Jones said. He pointed out that copies of transcripts needed for records here will be sought by the local district.

Frequently, a month or more may elapse before transcripts are received from a student's former school, the assistant principal said. He stressed that early completion of records is most important, especially in the reference to entering senior-year students.

Youngsters to be Featured In 'East Bank' Production

As promised by the East Bank Players directors, the Quad-Cities theatre group's second production will feature several roles for younger performers.

The show—"Gypsy"—based on the early life of Gypsy Rose Lee will be staged for the public on Sept. 10, 11 and 12 at the VFW hall, 21st street and Washington avenue.

The children's parts in "Gypsy" followed Madame Rose's talented offspring from childhood to grown up stars of the theatre, according to Mrs. Mill Hoelscher of the Players casting staff.

Describing the plot of the musical comedy, Mrs. Hoelscher noted that Little Rose Louise Hovick grew to be the famous strip tease star—Gypsy Rose Lee, and her sister, "Baby June," became June Haver, a Broadway actress and movie star.

The sisters started out as amateur contests and vaudeville shows at the ages of six and nine. The production planned by the East Bank Players centers upon activities in the first ten years of the youthful artists' stage careers.

Cast of Characters

Playing the part of the young Louise will be Bev Henderson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henderson of Granite City. She will begin her senior year this fall at Granite City high school, where she is vice-president of the Senior Leadership Club, all-sports manager of the Girls Athletic Association and a member of the Modern Music Masters, Advanced Mixed Chorus and the National Honor Society.

In addition, Miss Henderson studies voice with Mary Louise Mills of the Southern Illinois University—Southern campus' music faculty and serves as organist for Hope Lutheran Church.

The GCHS senior will portray Gypsy Rose Lee as she makes her debut as a headliner in burlesque. The real-life Gypsy was a tall and statuesque woman—five feet, nine inches tall—Miss Henderson is the same height, Mrs. Hoelscher noted.

Gypsy is credited with bringing the strip tease to a fine art, always remaining a lady and providing a sophisticated performance. She started in burlesque at 15 and was introduced to New York audiences at 17.

The real Gypsy was talented in other fields; she wrote several books, appeared in movies and was in the diefield Polities. The musical "Gypsy" is based upon her memoirs. Miss Lee died April 28, 1970, just a few days after the East Bank Players voted to perform "Gypsy."

FEMININE INGENUE LEADS for the East Bank Players' production of "Gypsy," scheduled for presentation Sept. 10, 11 and 12, will be handled by a local quartet—from left to right—Gretchen Hoelscher as "Baby June"; Anita Gasparovic as the "grown-up June"; Bev Henderson as "Louise"; and Bonnie Luebber as the "balloon girl," who wins an amateur contest.

as the organization's new show.

Appearing as Baby Louise will be Sue Hogan, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Dennis Hogan of Granite City. She will make her stage debut in the role.

Gypsy's sister, June, will be portrayed by Anita Gasparovic of Granite City, a sophomore at SIU-SW majoring in speech and theatre. Well-known to audiences as the "balloon girl," she will play the role of the young Louise. In addition, she served as feature editor of the Granite

Permits Needed For Large Groups At State Parks

Groups of 25 or more persons must obtain written permission to visit a state park, according to Ted Kavadas, superintendent of the division of parks and memorials of the Illinois Department of Conservation.

Permission may be obtained from the Division of Parks and Memorials, Illinois Department of Conservation, Room 106, State Office Building, Springfield. The number of people in the group, the date and the park that the group plans to visit should be given in the application, Kavadas said.

"This is an emergency measure," Kavadas said. "Many of our older parks were not designed to hold an unlimited number of people. The crowds that descend on them during a warm weekend strain facilities, and this overcrowding has caused much tension at some parks."

Kavadas said the capacity of picnicking and camping grounds and other areas of intense use have been determined. "The number of people that can be accommodated has been posted," Kavadas explained. "It is unlawful for anyone to enter these areas contrary to the posted capacity."

Kavadas said youth groups must be accompanied by adults. A chaperone is required for every 15 youth.

"No alcoholic beverage other than beer is allowed in areas managed by the department," Kavadas said. "No intoxicating beverage of any kind, including beer, is permitted in Fort Chartres, Fort Kaskaskia, Fort Creve Coeur, Lincoln Trail Homestead, Spiller Woods and McHenry Dam state parks.

"We ask that visitors observe posted speed limits and operate vehicles carefully," Kavadas said. "Please park in the designated parking areas. Pets should be leashed, and please build fires in camp stoves or grills."

"And please discard your trash in the garbage cans that have been provided for that purpose," Kavadas concluded.

State Considering Library Tax Relief

Library legislation designed to make up losses in tax revenues due to exemptions of personal property taxes to individuals has been announced by Paul Powell, secretary of state and state librarian.

House Bill 3342 increases the ceiling on the annual public library tax by .03% for tax rates between .12% and .20%. Secretary Powell stated, however, that the tax increase is not effective if the library received any share of the state income tax.

This bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert F. McPartlin (D), Chicago, and Sen. Frank M. Ozga (R), Evergreen Park, affects libraries in cities other than Chicago, villages, incorporated towns and townships. If more than a .03% increase is needed where prior ceilings

YOUR Independent AGENT SERVES YOU FIRST

SOME INSURANCE COMPANIES SAY THEY GIVE YOU "ON-THE-SPOT" CLAIMS SERVICE.

You'll do better to leave-on-the-spot work to your favorite dry cleaner.

Because "on-the-spot" claim service for car insurance means you are on the spot to settle your claim at somebody else's price.

If you want to get paid fairly as well as fast, see an Independent Insurance agent.

He's available day or night, to help you make a thorough assessment of damage, determine the full amount of your loss, and then speed settlement of your claim. Which is just one reason why most people buy their car, home and business insurance through an Independent agent.

There are 170,000 independent agents "on-the-spot" around the country ready to help you. This symbol is your assurance that we are professional independent agents.

Budgets Higher, Ill. Metro-East Members Told

Municipalities throughout the Madison St. Clair county metropolitan area have adopted substantially increased budgets and appropriations for the 1970-71 fiscal year in contrast to a $500,000 budget reduction in Granite City, members of Illinois Metro-East were told in a luncheon meeting Monday.

The financial outlook of area communities was discussed as part of a report presented by Robert Koepke of the Department of Geography of the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus. His report also touched on property valuations, development programs, highway projects and other area development data.

He pointed out that Belleville in St. Clair county has adopted a budget $1.2 million higher than that of last year and that the East St. Louis city appropriation bill is up $866,000 for operating purposes. Budget increases also were noted in Swansea and Edwardsville. He noted that Granite City has approved a new budget of $3.1 million, a decline of more than one-half million from the 1969-70 appropriation.

Approve Airport Plan
Koepke also told the Metro-East meeting in the Round Table at Collinsville that the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has endorsed a plan for Bi-State Parks Airport that includes a recommendation for construction and operation of a control tower by the Federal Aviation Administration. He said the plan also calls for a 7000-foot runway when the demand justifies, along with construction of short parallel runways and additional taxiways.

Surveys are being made and excavation work will start soon for construction of a new K-Mart discount store along Highway 143 at Wood River, Koepke reported.

A $52.5 million project for construction of Interstate 64 through St. Clair county has the support of the Gateway Council, he added. The approved project is a continuation of construction plans started before the federal fund freeze became effective in mid-1968.

A proposal to build two more lanes on Interstate 70 between the interchange with I-64 and Veterans Bridge in East St. Louis has been approved, Koepke said.

Name Nominating Committee
A nominating committee was appointed during the meeting to select 14 nominees for seven director posts subject to election at the next Illinois Metro-East meeting in September. The industrial development organization meets every other month. It operates with an executive board of 21 members, with seven elected each year to three-year terms. The board also includes a number of director-memberships.

A proposal to invite members of the Metro-East Chambers of Commerce Association (MECCA) to attend meetings of Illinois Metro-East was approved in Monday's meeting to permit better coordination of development plans and ideas.

"THE GUESS WHO"

Jazz Quartet To Play Sunday At River Festival

The St. Louis Jazz Quartet, with vocalist Jeanne Trevor, will be featured Sunday night at the Mississippi River Festival at the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus.

Conducting the pop concert by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra will be assistant director Leonard Slatkin.

Organized a year ago, The St. Louis Jazz Quartet includes four young musicians from the St. Louis area. Miss Trevor, a professional singer in St. Louis for six years, has appeared with Count Basie and Dionne Warwick. She has also sung in many supper clubs and recorded "Pow - Jean Trevor Sings" for Mainstream.

A member of the St. Louis Symphony, Terrance Kippenberg plays string bass with the quartet. He is a graduate of the St. Louis Institute of Music and has toured North and South America with small jazz groups. The bass violinist has performed with several folk-rock and jazz groups in St. Louis and California.

Pianist Ken Palmer has toured as music director for Johnny Mathis, Phil Foster, The Four Aces, and Dakota Staton. A graduate of the St. Louis Institute of Music, he taught music in the St. Louis public schools three years and now gives private organ, piano and harpsichord lessons in his own studio.

Drummer Charles Payne played with Oliver Nelson's studio group at Washington University and has appeared locally with several jazz ensembles. He studied in Europe and has been a percussionist with the Gateway Symphony.

The St. Louis Symphony will open the Sunday night concert at 7:30 with the Pops and Popsant Overture by Von Suppe. The orchestra will also play Three Dances from "Fancy Free" by Bernstein and The Pines of Rome by Respighi.

'The Guess Who' to Play 101st-Rifleman Monday at River Festival Sgt. Jaimet Wins Medal in Vietnam

"Music is music and the only thing that should count is whether it's good or not," says Burton Cummings, lead singer with the rock Canadian group, The Guess Who.

"Scoring on the charts can be a hang up," Cummings says, "especially if you've got an album you want heard. People who get hung up over labels forget to listen. They never hear anything and our albums have a lot to say. They are good."

Mississippi River Festival goers will have an opportunity to judge for themselves Monday night when The Guess Who comes to the Southwestern campus at Southern Illinois University for an 8:30 performance.

Randy Bachman, lead guitarist and head of the four-member band, writes most of the group's material. "We were playing our music in Canada for years before we made a hit record," Bachman says, "and it was enough that we dug it and other people dug it. I just write what I feel like and what I think and if that turns out to be a hit, beautiful."

Canada's top rock group now has its fourth top 20 record in a row, with one gold record and another on the way. Members of the band say they are still unable to think in commercial terms and are often confused by the image-making machines of the top 40 world.

In addition to Bachman and Cummings, the group includes drummer Garry Peterson and Jim Kale, bass.

Rooted in rock, the Canadian band got its big break in England before hitting the United States. Their first gold record, "These Eyes," was soon followed by what has developed into the rare two-sided hit, "Laughing" and "Uddon." Another recent hit is "No Time."

The RCA recording artists were influenced in the early days by such pop music leaders as Elvis Presley, Conway Twitty and Chet Atkins, but they have evolved with singular style and definition, which they call "wheatfield soul," the title of their first long playing record.

Also performing with The Guess Who are the Flying Burrito Brothers, billed as "an outgrowth of many nights and sounds." Members of this recording group are Gram Parsons, rhythm guitar, keyboard and vocals; Chris Hillman, bass guitar and vocals; Sneaky Pete, pedal steel guitar; Bernie Leadon, rhythm guitar and vocals; and Michael Clarke, drums.

The young serviceman will observe his 21st birthday in October and is presently on R & R leave in Hawaii. He spoke with his parents Sunday by telephone and said he will remain in the islands for six days before returning to Vietnam. He attended school in the Collinsville school district.

Sgt. Jaimet will complete his tour of duty in Vietnam and will arrive home in November. He will receive his separation from service in June 1971.

SGT. MICHAEL JAIMET Wins Medal

will arrive home in November. He will receive his separation from service in June 1971.

Dr. Bull to Lecture At College in Dublin

Dr. William E. Bull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bull of 2322 East 25th street, who is an associate professor of chemistry at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, has been honored with a Fulbright-Hayes award.

Dr. Bull will lecture at University College, Dublin, Ireland, during the 1970-71 year, and also will lecture at Oxford University, Oxford, England, in September. He will be accompanied by his wife, the former Margaret Whitaker of Cairo, Ill., and their sons, Larry, 12, Jeffery, nine, and Gregory, five. They are to depart for Ireland on Aug. 30.

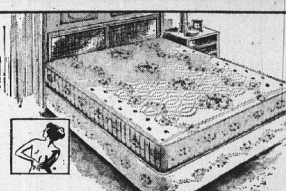

The former resident is a 1959 graduate of Granite City high school. He received his Bachelor degree at SIU-Carbondale and his masters and doctors degree at the University of Illinois, Champaign. Dr. Bull is co-author of two college-level textbooks, one of which has been translated and published for use in Japan.
